WITH U. S. MARINES ON HAN FRONT, Sept. 20 — (INS) — U. S.
Marine tanks crossed the Han river and headed toward Seoul today with the support of the 16-inch guns of the mighty battleship Missouri.

Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, U. S. Seventh Fleet Commander, announced that the guns of the "Big Mo" joined the Han river action shortly after Marine spearheads drove down the river's north bank and captured hill 127 four miles from Seoul.

Air reconnaissance reported that the Marines were advancing "rapidly."

Within an hour after crossing the Han, the leathernecks cut a highway and railroad leading to Pyongyang, North Korean capital,
from Seoul.

While Marine units consolidated their guns along the highway, other leathernecks swung southeast toward Seoul. Marines on the south bank captured Yanghwai near Yongdugpo two miles from the river bridges near Seoul.

United Nations war planes, apprised of movements of Communist reinforcements, attacked enemy vehicles far south of Seoul. The vehicles, disguised as haystacks, were attacked five miles north of Suwon.
Other enemy convoys were reported moving south from Ansan ten miles northwest of Suwon.

Air reconnaissance reported at 11:30 a. m. (10:30 p. m. EDT Tues.) that Communist troops were moving into Seoul from the South up a secondary road a few thousand yards from the Han.

Communist forces were also reported seen along the Anchumchon river, west of Yongdugpo.

"Heavy Traffic" of Korean civilians fleeing south to Seoul before the advancing Marines was reported.

MARIA TILLOTTA, UNDER LIFE SENTENCE FOR HER HUSBAND'S MURDER, APPEALS FOR COMMUTATION; HAS SERVED FOR 20 YEARS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20 — A Bristol, Bucks County, woman, who is serving a life sentence at the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, for the murder of her husband over 20 years ago, has made an appeal for commutation of sentence. The appeal was made to the State Board of Pardons by Mrs.
Maria Tillotta, 57.

This is the third time since 1949 (including twice this year), that Mrs. Tillotta has made such an appeal. She has served 20 years of her term.

At least one member of the pardon board spoke up against the woman's appeal.

"This is an example of a cold, calculating killing by a woman who hired assassins to murder her husband so she might marry her paramour," William S. Livengood, Jr., Secretary of Internal Affairs, commented.

Mrs. Tillotta's attorney, Henry D.
O'Connor, asked the board to recommend commutation of the life sentence on the basis that the woman had served sufficient time in prison to pay for her crime, longer than any woman now in prison in this state, he said.

O'Connor argued also that Giacomo Guicciardi, also involved in the slaying and sentenced to life imprisonment, was paroled seven years ago.

Mrs. Tillotta and her next-door neighbor, Joseph Guida, were convicted of hiring three Brooklyn thugs, who were never arrested, to beat her husband to death. The men stopped Tillotta's car on a lonely road and killed him in December, 1928, for a reported $500.

Guida was executed and Guicci-ardi, his cousin, who hired the killers, was given a life sentence. Mrs.
Tillotta was convicted in 1930.

Occupant of Car Hurt As Machine Rolls Over

JANNEY, Sept. 20 — Slight injuries were sustained by one of two Marines, when the sedan in which they were en route to Philadelphia Navy yard, where they were to report for duty, rolled over here early this morning.

The injured is Charles Smith, 23, of Sawyerville, who sustained lacerations of the head and arms.
He was treated at Nazareth hospital, Philadelphia, and discharged.
Smith was taken there by officers from Langhorne barracks, Pennsylvania state police.

The car was operated by Horace A. Bischoff, 24, of Princeton, N. J. Bischoff told officers that as he was travelling west on the Lincoln highway he was blinded by lights of another car, and that his car rolled over on the approach to the one-way section of the highway.

The accident occurred at three o'clock.

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Sellersville police, under the supervision of the recently-elected chief, William Hammerschmidt, continue their efforts to break up traffic violations and last week took into custody a Philadelphia truck driver, who paid a fine for overloading after his vehicle was involved in an accident.

The driver, John Daloney, paid a $25 fine and costs before Justice of the Peace Lee Wilhelm following a series of events which brought about his arrest.

Daloney was traveling south, it was alleged, and attempted to pass a car operated by Howard Boyd, Glenside. The Boyd vehicle was forced over the sidewalk, but the truck continued its course. Boyd hailed a passing motorist who gave chase and overtook the truck in front of Sellersville police station.

Chief Hammerschmidt, who investigated, ordered the truck weighed. This revealed the load exceeded the state regulations. The Boyd car was damaged to the extent of about $200.

saying that there is no danger of polio infection.

The schools closed Monday by order of the board of health after a second grade pupil at the Manor is reported to be doing well.

Supervising Principal Manoah R.

parents of pupils at the Manor Park school have failed to return the children back to school. Mr.
Reiter said that the schools were aired and treated with disinfectant during the Monday shutdown and have since been certified safe.

Parents are obliged to return their children to school within three days in accordance with state law, Mr. Reiter said. The board of health added that there was no

Mystery Surrounds Death of Dr. Sander's Nurse

Hooksett, N. H. — Mystery today surrounded the tragic death of Helen Maciok, pretty medical secretary to Dr. Hermann N. Sander. Police who viewed the body of the 25-year-old girl as it lay in a ravine near Harko Brook in Hooksett Woods, declared death was "presumably a suicide." They waited, however, for a report of an autopsy being conducted at Concord before reporting a definite verdict. Chemists also were examining a small vial, similar to a physician's measuring glass, which was found near the body. A white powder was found in the bottom of the vial. Also under examination was an empty envelope found near the body.

May Ban Inter-State Slot Machine Shipment

Washington — Legislation to ban the interstate shipment of slot machines is slated today for Senate action. Acting Majority Leader McFarland (D, Ariz.,) told newsmen that the slot machine bill would be disposed of despite notification by Sen. Malone (R, Nev.,) that he had a "long" speech—perhaps four or five hours—on the subject. Malone, whose state has legalized gambling, objects to the slot machine transport ban on the ground that a state legislature must take special action to permit machines to come into the state.

Reach Virtual Agreement on Tax Bill Boost

Washington — Senate and House conferees on the five-billion dollar tax boost bill reached virtual agreement today, but the measure again threatened to upset congressional holiday plans. The adjournment or recess row flared up over the proposal for enactment later this year of an excess profits tax. The proposal is included in the measure. Late yesterday the conferees agreed on a 10 per cent withholding tax on dividends, a House provision struck by the Senate but finally agreed to by Senate conferees. The proposal, estimated to bring in 190 million dollars annually, would require corporations and other businesses paying dividends to withhold 10 per cent which would be turned over to the treasury to be credited to the recipients' total annual tax.

GETS JAIL TERM ON ARSON CHARGE; PLEADS GUILTY

Joseph E. Taylor, Lambert-ville, Implicated in Beauty Parlor Fire

EXCESSIVE DRINKING

Defendant Previously Had A Very Good Reputation

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 20 — Excessive drinking for the past four years, to such an extent that a medical practitioner described him as an alcoholic, got a Lambertville (N. J.) fireman a sentence of three to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary yesterday in the Bucks county criminal court.

Judge Hiram H. Keller heard the plea of guilty entered by Joseph E.
Taylor, 31, of 31 Ferry street, charged with arson in connection with a fire that damaged the John Francis Myers Beauty Salon and the Pennsylvania State Liquor Store in New Hope on Sunday morning, Jan. 8th.

The defendant, whom many of his friends informed the court by letter and by testimony, bore a good reputation until he started excessive drinking, made no comment or showed any nervousness after the sentence was pronounced.

Testimony was presented by the Commonwealth to show that Taylor set fire to the beauty shop where his lady friend was employed as a beautician—after she had broken off steady friendship with him because of his drinking.

Taylor, a graduate of Lambert-ville High School, a former top officer in the Elks and the American

ECONOMY FOR ALL

It remains to be seen with what face the government can ask the people to forgo "many of the things they now enjoy," while the administration continues its program of socialistic spending which has been responsible for increasing the national debt in a time of peace.

Imposition of curbs on credit buying may be regarded as necessary to prevent inflation. But it will serve no purpose unless the rule is invoked alike for both the government and the people.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia has consistently warned against socialistic extravagance, and blames the present financial situation of the government on the same trends the administration is now moving to curb in the nation's economy. In doing this, he charges, military preparedness has been sacrificed in favor of vote-making gimmicks.

The war in Korea has brought about a situation which calls for an immediate end to spending for socialized housing, medicine, farming and education. The people will face the sacrifices demanded by the government with much better grace if the government itself joins in the effort for a war economy.

Nor does the public feel that economy should take the form of all but wrecking the postal service, which is the most nearly self-supporting of all the government departments.

GONE WITH THE WIND

Dr. H. H. Bennett, veteran chief of the United States Soil Conservation Service, says the prairies of the Midwest, which comprise the greatest bread basket in the world, started with nine inches of topsoil and now have six, that half the land area of the United States has been damaged by erosion, and only 460,000,000 acres of first class land is left, or approximately three acres per inhabitant.

It's a dark picture he paints, dark enough for anybody. In a few more generations, unless proper policies are applied, he says, the United States will wind up a poor, have-not nation, all its vaunted wealth and standard of living gone with the wind and the water.

Here is a field which, while not subject to the sensationalism that international affairs and domestic politics produce, is basically the most important problem facing America, if the situation is as dark as painted. The nation must stop soil erosion if it is to support an ever-increasing population.

A few poor crop years, coupled with war, could result in troublesome food shortages. Phenomenal yields in the last decade have resulted in huge surpluses, but it cannot be assumed that bumper crops will continue to be produced each year.

This is the season when many people think they prefer goose-pimples to heat rash, chilblains to chiggers.

88 Olds repeats its sweeping victory of 1949 by winning the 1950 200-mile stock car race at Langhorne. As in 1949 the Olds-last three stock car races have all been won by the Olds 88.

In Sunday's race we had a personal interest in the winning Olds 88. Our service department conditioned the car for the race and one of our mechanics acted as pit crew for the winning car.

Oldsmobile proved again its superior performance, roada-

Newtown Borough School

NEWTOWN, Sept. 20.—Newtown Kindergarten started its sessions in Wesley Hall, Monday morning, with 14 enrolled. Mrs. B. Willis Starr is the teacher.

Pupils enrolled are: Robert T. Carr, Mary P. Beck, Patricia S. Hill, Nelson A. Lindquist, Inez M. Longstreet, William C. Dillman, Morrell C. Brown, Jr., James T. Blevins, Judith A. Motson, Christopher Davis, William Doherty, Anita L. Weaver, John F. Hughes, Jr., and Martin Graser.

Delhaas High School

Pupils at Delhaas High School are taking advantage of the school banking system for the third year. While it is a well known institution to grades eight, nine, and ten, several pupils in seventh grade have enrolled in this banking plan.

The plan of thrift was explained in the homerooms yesterday and some pupils have already begun to bank this school term. Banking will really get into full swing next Tuesday, September 26, in each of the sixteen homerooms of Delhaas.

Boys and girls bank in Farmers National Bank. They may bank as little as twenty-five cents and in any amount divisible by twenty-five. When the student has deposited ten dollars, he receives a bank card folder and this money then begins to draw interest.

Last year there was deposited more than two thousand dollars, and Delhaas was proud of its 206 active banking members. Many boys and girls opened accounts to save for the Washington trip when they are seniors in high school. Others planned to save for future education. It is hoped that many more pupils will this year take advantage of the Delhaas Student Banking Plan.

George School

NEWTOWN, Sept. 20.—The worth of the individual, the conquest of fear and the place of education in preserving American democracy were major points brought out Saturday and Sunday as George School trustees, faculty members, alumni, parents and student leaders convened for the opening conference prior to school opening today.

"If one is to rebuild the world," said Principal Richard H. McFeely in delivering concluding remarks of the conference, "one must rebuild the individual first."

Earlier speakers had presented standards by which George School will be evaluated during 1950-51, brought out a concept of Friends' education, traced the importance of international education (as exemplified by George School's affiliation program), underscored faith in democracy and presented first-hand some observations on the teacher-student work camp project this summer in Germany.

The panel of speakers Saturday night and Sunday morning included Mr. McFeely, Lucile Pollock, Bruce Dedinsky, Paul Blanshard, Jr., Walter Mohr, William Eves, Jr., Edward Babbott and Inge Snipes of the school faculty and John Hollister of the school's governing committee, former teacher there and now an officer of the Institute of International Education.

"One measure of success for a school like this," a speaker declared, "is its sensitivity to the off-campus forces at work in the world—fear, anti-communism, standardization, materialism, etc. - - and the knowledge that all its publics understand clearly the school's interpretation of these forces." Particular attention was called to adapting the curriculum to fit the needs of the individual, as well as being adjusted to the forces which affect the individual's life.

More than 100, including several Newtown, Langhorne, Bristol and other Bucks County citizens, took part in the meetings and heard the two-part speaking program at George School.

The start of the 58th academic year this week found almost 450 students on campus, and a teaching staff of 48.

Reading Company has issued a check for $600 to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission in payment for the fish killed in a Perkaskie stream a month ago when a Reading Company car overshot the switch at the Sine coal yards, Perkaskie, and crashed into a fuel oil tank releasing nearly 10,000 gallons of oil.

Much of the oil reached the stream and killed thousands of small fish and many larger ones in approximately a half mile of the stream right in the heart of the borough.

Captain Aaron C. Griffiths, Jr., Warrington, commanding officer of Company D, 111th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, P. N. G., and his guardsmen have returned after aiding Wilkes-Barre National Guardsmen in making preparations for 33 soldiers who were killed in an Ohio train wreck.

Captain Griffiths and 1st Sgt. Frank W. Walton headed baggage details. The bodies of the soldier-dead arrived in three baggage cars. Each casket was accompanied by an honor guard of National Guardsmen and honorary pallbearers as they were placed on caissons and formed a funeral cortege.

fire near Lambertville over a year ago.

Miss Eliza H. Todd, of South Main street, New Hope, testified that she saw the defendant in front of Mrs. Scheetz's home just before the fire, and heard him call to Mrs. Scheetz, and shake his fist: "I'm going to fix you good now."

"Taylor was very much intoxicated and was with another man," Miss Todd testified.

Among the defense witnesses called by Taylor's attorney, William M. Power, was Dr. Harvard R. Hicks, of Doylestown, medical practitioner and psychiatrist, who examined Taylor two weeks ago.

"He is mentally sane and responsible," Dr. Hicks informed the court. "He is not a pyro-maniac or a sex pervert; his problem is alcoholism. He has been drinking steadily since he was 21 and has been an alcoholic for the past four or five years."

"Taylor is the type that cannot stop after taking one drink; he wants it all, and for that reason he 'blacks out'—often loses his memory."

"Alcoholics Anonymous would be the best thing for him. Just stopping his drinks would not be a cure for Taylor; there must be a regeneration from within."

Dr. John A. Flood, New Hope dentist, was one of Taylor's character witnesses, together with an aunt, Mrs. Regina Wayne, Lambertville; Harry D. Blair, Lambertville; Paul Molloy, Lambertville; and scores of letters from priests, business men and bankers.

The defendant himself, told the court that he lives alone with his mother, aged 70, and is her sole support. He said that he had worked about 9 years as a meat cutter for a well known chain store company and could get his job back any time.

Taylor served in the Army in World War II, and received a dependency discharge to take care of his mother. He was an altar boy in church for many years.

The defendant said that he had known Mrs. Scheetz for the past eight years, called on her socially for five years, and would like to have been married to her. Mrs. Scheetz is estranged from her husband.

"We had a 'falling out' and a slight quarrel," Taylor told Judge Keller. "Matrimony would have been nice had it been possible."

Taylor told the court that the night in question he visited four or five Lambertville taprooms and had four or five straight whiskies with water chasers in each place. He described his ride to New Hope with the strange man named "Al," and how they stopped at Mrs. Scheetz's house, and then went to the beauty salon, where he (Taylor) started the fire. Then he went to the Lambertville-New Hope bridge, talked with a bridge policeman and heard the fire siren sound. Then he went to his own fire house where he has served as a fireman for eight years.

"I realize now that I am an alcoholic," Taylor said. "I have no reason or explanation as to why I started the fire. I deny that I ever was with a group that set fire to a barn in Lambertville."

Thomas H. Carmody, Jr., a Deputy U. S. Revenue Collector and assistant fire chief of the Lambertville City Fire Department, testified that Taylor is still a member in good standing with the Hibernian Company. The witness said that Taylor was very much intoxicated when he saw him in the fire house the morning of the alarm, and that he warned him to keep off the engines, but that the defendant got on somehow.

In rebuttal, Gerald P. Donahue, special agent for the National Board of Fire Underwriters, stated that the defendant did tell him, in the presence of Detective Stackhouse, that he did accompany some fellows who started a barn fire two years ago.

"This man is not an arsonist; he is an alcoholic who needs medical treatment," Attorney Power argued to the court. "I am making a plea for leniency, not because of that fact however, but because of this man's aged mother."

Judge Keller, in pronouncing sentence, made it plain that he had no intentions of permitting Taylor to get off without a prison sentence. "This is not a pleasant duty for the court to send a young man like you away, but where you are going, there will be no drinking for some time. The court is only carrying out the law as laid down. The law regards arson as one of the most serious crimes next to murder."

"Arson is a most cowardly offense, and I cannot understand your conduct; why you wanted to set fire to the beauty shop where your girl-friend was employed. I sincerely hope that this sentence will make a man out of you. You were indeed fortunate to have the many friends come here and say the nice things they did say about you."

A Prayer to Invest
Lord, may we add more to life then we take out of it? May we thus multiply our talents in useful service, not for what we can get but for what we can give. Let us not expect anything in return. May we die to ourselves and our desires that we may really live and find ourselves. May we gain all as a by-product of what we give. Lord, may we give. Amen.

HUNTER-WILSON WINS SEMI-FINAL ROUND OF GAMES

The Hunter-Wilson team won the semi-final round of the Bristol Industrial Softball League with a close 4-3 win over Leedom's last evening on the former's diamond. An extra inning was required to determine the winner.

"Ed" Capriotti's single in the eighth inning, scoring Burton, gave the distillery workers the triumph. It had tied the score on a double by "Lou" Mari and an error.

At the end of the regulation game, the score stood deadlocked at 2-2. But in the top of the overtime session, Crossin helped his own cause by slashing out a home run with two out. But the Hunter-Wilson spurt overcame the one-run lead.

The winners had 11 hits in the contest with Capriotti and Mari getting three each. Leedom's had two safe blows with Hall getting six out of three.

Hunter-Wilson will now play 3M's in the final playoffs.

type costume, the 23 young members of the Dublin string band turned in a fine performance of marching and playing.

In sharp contrast to the costumes of the other bands, the Pitman Hobo Band, of Pitman, N. J., took the field with patched pants and long underwear showing beneath tattered cuffs. Announced as a 95-piece unit, only about a half-dozen members marched out on the field. In a few moments, however, the rest of the band spilled noisily from the stands and formed their ranks.

Before the Pitman band marched off the field they had staggered drunkenly while playing "How Dry I Am," and finally ended up playing a number while sprawled about on the ground. The bent instruments and ragged clothing didn't detract from their fine music making ability.

"Orchids in the Moonlight" came next as the Dick Cream String Band of Philadelphia came out in their splendid costumes of subdued cream, blue, and orchid. Each of the players seemed to be costumed in an orchid, while the color hues of the capes gave the illusion of soft moonlight.

The exotic "Arabs" of the Palmyra String Band came out complete with a turbaned "sheik." Their costumes were of gold and red, with full-blown blue pantaloons. The strutting sheik was

"Tulip Time" was the theme as the Garden State String Band from Gloucester, N. J., paraded onto the field. The blue and silver costumes had the arms of a windmill placed behind the head of each player, while on the backs were placed colorful tulips. The captain had an elaborate gold costume that represented a huge windmill.

The final band of the evening were the hosts of the occasion, the Pennel String Band. Their more than 40 members dressed in pink and green satin, presented a fitting conclusion to a colorful evening.

The affair was presented by the Pennel String Band Association to raise funds for new uniforms for their organization.

Winner of the 54-piece set of silverware and a silver serving fish, which were presented as a floor prize, was Mrs. C. M. Heaton, of 423 Washington street.
